Senate Action Kills Civil Rights Bill, Martin Says

Army to Pull First Cavalry Out of Japan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced Thursday night it will withdraw the 1st Cavalry Division from Japan and assign its men "elsewhere in the near future."

The Army said the 24th Division in Korea, first U. S. outfit to enter the Korean War in 1950, will be redesignated the 1st Cavalry Division and remain with its personnel and equipment on the peninsula.

The shifts will reduce the Army from 18 to 17 divisions.

"For the time being the 24th division will be removed from the active list," the announcement said. "However, all of its famous regiments will be represented in other divisions of the active Army."

The withdrawal from Japan will be carried out under the joint agreement between President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi announced last June 21. The agreement called for substantial reduction of U. S. forces in Japan within a year and total withdrawal of ground combat forces.

There are about 25,000 U. S. ground troops in Japan. With the removal of the present 1st Cavalry contingent, a regiment of Marines will be the remaining U. S. ground force in Japan.

The commander of the new 1st Cavalry Division in Korea will be Maj. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, the present 24th Division commander.

Defense Costs Up

Wilson Clamps $38 Billion Spending Limit on the Military Services

WASHINGTON (AP)—No matter what the outcome of the London disarmament conference, U. S. military forces are going to be cut back.

The reason: The declining buying power of the dollar has forced up defense costs.

While disarmament negotiators are haggling in London for some token "first step" reduction in arms and men, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has clamped a $38-billion-dollar spending limit on the military services.

This would be at a level some $2,200,000,000 less than the current annual spending rate of $40,200,000,000 on America's defenses.

And more cuts are coming, Wilson said, because of "creeping cost increases" resulting from inflation. He added that the grass roots sentiment of the country as reflected by Congress favors reducing defense outlays.

Asked at his news conference Thursday about the effect of the slash in America's military might, Wilson replied it still would produce a "reasonable minimum" of security.

But he quickly added that the Pentagon would ultimately have to answer for the big question of "what is enough."

The government is in a "cost bind," the defense chief said, and has got to "back down" on some of its military spending goals so as not to exceed the federal debt limit.

Wilson, who said his economy program has the approval of President Eisenhower, said more manpower cuts are coming on top of the 100,000 men he had ordered dropped from the military rolls by the end of the year. But he refused to say how many, although he hinted that future draft calls may drop as low as 7,000 men a month. This compared with the September quota of 8,000 men—the lowest in more than a year.

Says House Will Not Accept Jury Trial Amendment

Senate Approves
Disputed Amendment
By 51 to 42 Vote

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today called the Senate's jury trial amendment to his civil rights bill "bitterly disappointing" and a threat to the entire federal judicial system.

In one of the strongest statements to come from the White House in this administration, Eisenhower said that rarely in the legislative history of the United States had so many extraneous issues been introduced in Senate debate "in order to confuse both legislators and the public."

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican leaders said today Senate amendments to the civil rights bill probably have killed the bill's chances of becoming law this year.

They said the House will not accept the jury trial amendment approved by the Senate early today, especially when coupled with earlier Senate action to confine the bill to voting rights only.

"That probably kills the bill for

DOUGLAS, DIRKSEN VOTE AGAINST AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Illinois' two U. S. Senators, Democrat Paul Douglas and Republican Everett M. Dirksen, voted together Thursday night in the roll call vote by which the Senate adopted the jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill.

Both congressmen voted against passage of the amendment.

The amendment, which provides for jury trials in cases where violations of the civil rights bill are being prosecuted, was unsuccessfully opposed by many who thought convictions improbable by a white jury in the South.

this session," said Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.). "The House will never agree to it."

Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N. Y.), a likely member of the Senate-House conference committee which will try to compromise on the bill, said he hopes it has not been killed but that "I am afraid it has."

Democratic House leaders were reluctant to appraise immediately the effect of the Senate's 51-42 vote.

The decision cleared the way for Senate approval within a week of the first civil rights legislation in eight decades.

Threats of a southern filibuster evaporated. Some senators from the South, including Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, now said they would vote for the bill.

It now was essentially a voting rights bill providing for jury trial in criminal contempt cases. The Senate last week dealt Eisenhower a first major setback by knocking out a broad provision that would have given the attorney

YESTERDAY this department ran a clipping about unusual weather in the year 1816.

Today this department tells about an old warranty deed with an unusual description.

Atty. Lloyd Melton showed it to me. It was one of a group brought in when Mr. Melton was making a deed from a former Hardin county resident to a Saline county resident.

The deed, recorded in Hardin county, was for "three acres, more or less, on the east side of the said fence, commencing at a hole in the ground, running parallel with the fence, said three acres more or less is in the northeast corner of the west one-half of the northwest quarter etc. etc."

Mr. Melton said that once he had an old warranty deed brought in in which the description started at a "black oak stump," and another in which the description started at a certain location and ran to a "cross fence."

Marilyn Suffers Miscarriage

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Marilyn Monroe suffered a miscarriage today and lost her baby nearly eight months before its expected birth.

The 31-year-old actress, who is childless, was rushed 100 miles to Doctors Hospital here Thursday because of the threatened miscarriage. A hospital spokesman said Miss Monroe underwent surgery late Thursday night.

The spokesman said the film star was in great pain during the operation, but was in satisfactory condition. She was given a blood transfusion during the surgery, the spokesman said.

On her admittance to the hospital Thursday afternoon, Miss Monroe's doctor said she was "five or six weeks pregnant" and that her baby was expected "around the end of March."

With her playwright husband Arthur Miller at her side, the curvaceous screen star was wheeled into the hospital on a stretcher.

The blonde film beauty was expected to be able to leave the hospital in a few days, a hospital spokesman said today.

In Hollywood Thursday, a four-pound boy was born prematurely to singer Rosemary Clooney, the wife of actor-director Jose Ferrer. Both mother and baby were reported in good condition.

Corn Damaged By American Borer: Kimmel

Farm Adviser L. B. Kimmel reported today that quite a lot of concern is being expressed by farmers in this area about the damage being done to young corn by the American corn borer.

He advises that this corn borer is not to be confused or compared with the European corn borer, which does widespread damage to corn and is much harder to control.

The American corn borer normally damages the leaves of a stalk, sometimes the tassel, but confines its operation to the one stalk, and since it is of a cannibalistic nature, it first consumes all of the younger borers within the stalk before attacking the leaves.

After a period of ten days the borer has done all the damage it will do to the leaves and tassel and usually goes into the ground to remain until the following year. It sometimes remains within the stalk.

The American borer is easily identified by the brown sawdust it leaves. The European borer leaves white sawdust.

Usually five to ten stalks in one place are attacked by the American corn borer and fifteen or twenty rows away another group may attack another five or ten stalks. It does not migrate nor travel from stalk to stalk.

Mr. Kimmel reports that the American borer is more prevalent in this area than at any previous year within his memory.

He said there will be actually little damage to the corn itself, from the American corn borer.

It can be controlled with DDT and water being sprayed down into the stalk, but this is quite expensive in view of the small amount of damage that the borer normally does.

U. S. Ambassador Target of Government Anger in Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—Government anger rose today against U. S. Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith and there were reports he may be asked to leave the country because he visited rebel-held areas in eastern Cuba.

Total news censorship, imposed under a decree suspending civil rights for 45 days, veiled military developments in the area.

But in Havana Smith became the target of an unprecedented campaign of attacks by government spokesmen because of his critical comments Wednesday on police precautions in rebel-infested Santiago.

Informed circles said it was unlikely the administration would go so far as to throw him out of Cuba.

A Cuban "white house" spokesman announced, however, that Foreign Minister Gonzalo Guell had been instructed to get hold of Smith "for the purpose of discussing his unfortunate declarations in Santiago."

The pro-government organ Alerta carried a statement by its publisher, Communications Minister Ramon Vasconcelos, accusing the ambassador of "imperialistic meddling" in Cuba's affairs. "Mr. Smith has permitted himself to express opinions on domestic questions about which he knows nothing," Vasconcelos said.

"He acted with less tact than was to be expected from a diplomat just arrived in a country that is not an American colony, that has a legally constituted government and that is faced with an abnormal situation which it is trying to solve."

Unconfirmed reports said rebels operating from hideouts in the mountains had burned a police station in Buycito and an army barracks in Minas. Guerrillas also were said to have blown up bridges across the Cunela, Yao and Macanum rivers.

Normal activity in Santiago was at a standstill today as a result of a "general strike" called by the opposition to protest the killing of a rebel leader by police.

Answer to Zhukov—II

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
When Marshal Zhukov told President Eisenhower that communism appeals to the idealistic because it allows people to sacrifice themselves to the State, he spoke of a theory that has no link with the facts of life in the Soviet Union.

Despite decades of effort and concealment of the truth by the distortions of propaganda, the Russians have not been able to hide from the world how a Communist government works in real practice.

It is a dictatorship founded on ruthless coercion of the people. It is arbitrary rule. Decisions are handed down from the top and must be obeyed without question. The people neither debate nor take part in these choices. Their criticisms never touch policy fundamentals but are limited to details of policy execution.

After nearly 30 years of Communist rule in Russia, we have no measurable evidence that Soviet citizens selflessly sacrifice themselves to the State, and glory in this sacrifice. They yield to the all-powerful government because it monopolizes the means of coercion—and applies them with brutal disdain for human concerns.

In original theory, Communists argued that dictatorship would be a temporary phase, that a gradually re-educated people would develop habits of selfless cooperation which in time would end the need for arbitrary rule.

Early in the game, however, Lenin and other top Russian Reds saw the folly of trying to remake human nature. They thereafter accepted dictatorship as a permanent condition under communism.

Clearly, then, they accepted coercion as a necessary device. All thought that people could be brought to selfless sacrifice for the State, that they could find deep satisfaction in such yielding, was forgotten.

Thus when Zhukov told Mr. Eisenhower communism lured the idealistic because it gave them outlet for sacrifice, he spouted theory which his own civilian leaders long since had given up.

Possibly, being a soldier, he did not understand all that had transpired in the civilian realm. Too, a soldier is trained to accept subservience to firm authority as a good and necessary thing. The military is built upon a system of order maintained from the top.

On the other hand, the Russian military customarily gets far more political indoctrination than do soldiers in free lands. Zhukov in the mid-1940's may very well have understood thoroughly the facts of Soviet life.

The truth is that Russian leaders in all walks have sought continuously to perpetuate the idea of selfless cooperation in the programs and policies of the Communist state. But what was genuine theory at the outside has become gigantic fraud.

Nothing so sharply symbolizes the fraud as does the constant use of the phrase "peoples government" to describe Red regimes which have nothing whatsoever to do with the people except to grind them in the dust.

By their nature Communist governments do not serve people but enslave them. The "State" is not an agency rooted in popular consent and sustained by popular cooperation. It exists as a mechanism to prolong and enlarge the power of Communist dictators.

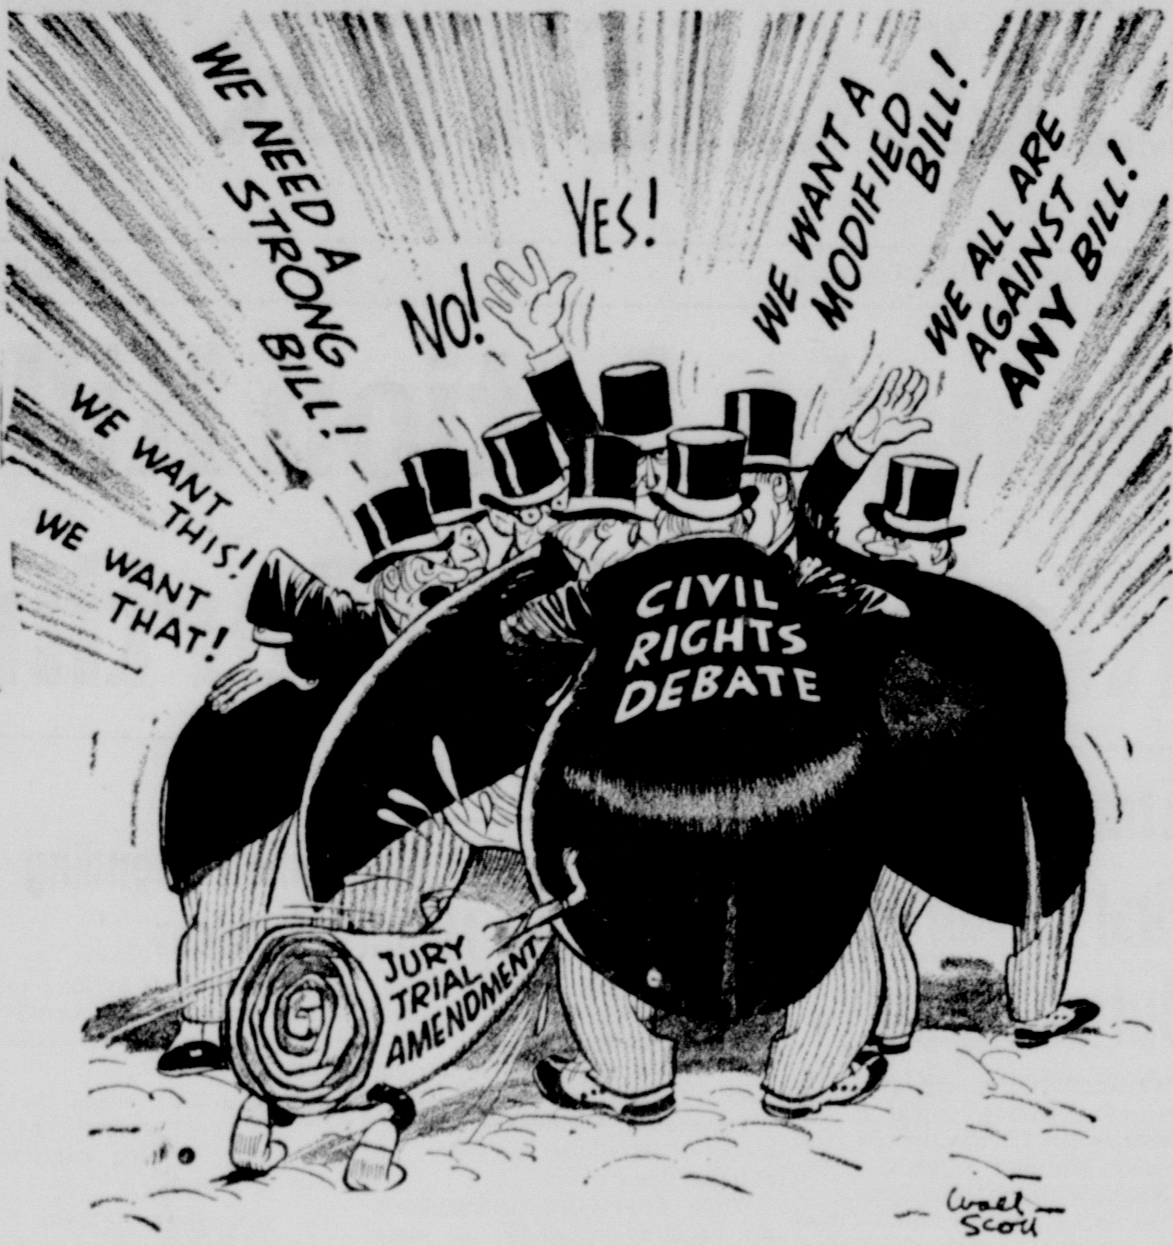

Communism, not democracy, is materialistic. It is a system perfectly conceived to serve the materialistic needs of the seekers of great power.

The man at the top in the Kremlin—or his counterpart in other Red regimes—is truly the only kind of man on earth who can do as he pleases. And very little of what he does ought in fact to appeal to the idealistic.

The Sound and the Fury—They Huff and They Puff!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON SAYS: Afro-American Ad Defending Jimmy Hoffa Was Tied to Coincidence With Jury Trial; Man Who Signed The Ad Can't Be Located; Government Witness Smeared As Foe Of Negro.

WASHINGTON. — How far Hoffa-Teamster forces went to influence the eight Negro members of the jury which helped acquit the No. 2 boss of the Teamsters is indicated by one of the most amazing advertisements ever to appear in a newspaper during a criminal trial in the nation's capital.

The ad was published July 6, right at the height of the Hoffa trial, by the Washington edition of the Afro-American, leading Negro newspapers of the Atlantic seaboard.

In addition to the full-page ad, the Afro carried a front-page story announcing that a prominent Negro attorney, Mrs. Martha M. Jefferson of Los Angeles, had flown east to join the Hoffa defense counsel. The full-page ad carried a picture of Mrs. Jefferson standing beside Jimmy Hoffa and Edward Bennett Williams, his attorney.

In addition, the Afro published an amazing column by Samuel Hoskins certainly not calculated to alienate the eight Negro jurors. Hoskins noted that Hoffa was being tried before "Her Honor U. S. District Judge Burnita S. Matthews, who hails from the magnolia state of Mississippi, the same commonwealth which thrust Sir James O. Eastland upon the Democratic party."

At about the time the Afro-American was published, with copies delivered to the homes of jurors, Judge Matthews confined the Hoffa jury to the courthouse. They were not permitted to see uncensored newspapers.

The Hoskins column also referred to the fact that Senate Rackets Chairman John McClellan of Arkansas, who brought the bribery charge against Hoffa, had been battling against the civil rights bill in the Senate.

In contrast, Hoskins called Hoffa's trial attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, the "Sir Galahad of the legal arena," and thereafter referred to him as "Sir Williams."

TALLAHASSEE BUS BOYCOTT
The Afro-American publicity in defense of Hoffa coincided with the trip of ex-heavyweight champ Joe Louis to Washington to spend parts of two days in the courtroom as Hoffa's friend. The trip was specifically arranged by Paul Dorfman of Chicago, labor racketeer friend of Hoffa, with the Negro attorney, Truman Gibson. Though it was reported that Louis had come to Washington in connection with his tax troubles, the big, good-natured ex-boxing champ admitted to this column that the trip was entirely arranged by Dorfman and Gibson in order to help Hoffa.

Negro members of the jury, after acquitting Hoffa, told reporters their verdict was not influenced by race.

One of the most significant incidents in the Hoffa trial was a question asked of chief government witness John Cye Cheasty by Hoffa's defense counsel as to whether he had used a fictitious identity when he was employed by the city of Tallahassee to investigate the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People during the Tallahassee bus boycott.

Cheasty was not permitted to answer. However, the government then proceeded to turn the question against Hoffa by asking Cheasty to tell what happened in Tallahassee.

Cheasty then told how he had defended Negroes and referred to the "skunks" who beat up "pregnant Negro women." The testimony boomeranged against Hoffa.

It was significant, therefore, that the full-page ad published in the Afro-American dealt largely with this testimony. The ad was signed by "Frank Crowling, director of Detroit Citizens' Civic Committee." Neither this organization nor Frank Crowling is listed in the Detroit telephone directory, and neither is known to Detroit's Negro congressman, Charles Diggs, nor to other Detroit Congressmen. Furthermore Detroit city records show no registration for the "Detroit Citizens Civic Committee."

At the Afro-American, this writer was informed that the ad was placed by John Cowling of Detroit. Mr. Cowling, it was learned is employed by the Wayne County treasurer and came to Washington during the Hoffa trial to work for Hoffa. He informed the Afro-American that he was a director of the Metropolitan Civic Committee of Detroit. Inquiry among Negro leaders in Detroit disclosed that this organization published the "Democratic Delegates Digest." An attempt to place an ad with the Digest brought the reply that it was printed only just before elections.

ENEMY OF NAACP
At any rate the full-page ad which Cowling inserted in the Afro-American under the name of Frank Crowling went out of the way to throw mud on government witness Cheasty, while defending Hoffa.

"On one side of the scale of justice," said the ad, "stands a two-fisted direct, uncompromising fighter for labor whose blunt technique in our wildest imagination could never be associated with a cloak and dagger method. On the other side of the scale of justice stands the accuser, John Cye Cheasty... who admits he was hired by a committee which was probing Negro schoolteachers and the NAACP."

"Negro citizens of Florida and America are breathing heavily in wonderment of how men like John Cye Cheasty can skip over the nation, securing top employment at will, when our nation is loaded with unemployed law-layers."

References to Cheasty's testimony and the Tallahassee incident were tied into the Hoskins column in the Afro-American. Hoskins told how after the Negro attorney, Mrs. Jefferson had arrived from Los Angeles, "the firebrand minister from Tallahassee, Florida, Re. C. K. (Bus Boycott) Steele explained for the return trip south."

"The Reverend Mr. Steele, Florida's edition of Alabama's Rev. Martin Luther King," continued Hoskins, "came to Washington as the result of being subpoenaed to testify as a witness."

To Negro readers this obviously meant that one of the great heroes of the bus boycott movement of the South was on the side of Jimmy Hoffa.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D. (Written for NEA Service)

Big seeds, little seeds and medium size seeds grow into plants of all sizes. The seed which produces a pine tree is smaller than the seed which grows into a corn stalk. The size and shape of the embryo seems to bear no relationship to the size of the resultant plant.

Each little seed contains untold strength and hidden power. Even a microscopic seed can produce a plant strong enough to move a stone hundreds of times its weight. The power comes from the Creator of the world and all that is in the world. God has endowed all nature with immeasurable power.

The lowly mustard seed is referred to in the Bible as a challenge for man to use the power of his faith. We all have the power to accomplish untold results if we apply our faith in even a small way.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State

Recent stories again focus attention to the needless deaths on our streets of pedestrians. This is a problem for which both the pedestrian and the driver must cooperate to defeat.

The driver must remember that a pedestrian has little chance against the vehicle he is driving. It weighs many times that of the pedestrian and when in movement becomes even more potent as an instrument of death. With these thoughts in mind, the driver should realize why he must be on the alert for pedestrians and why he must yield the right-of-way to them.

The pedestrian, too, has his obligations in this battle. A person who steps from behind parked cars into the street gives a driver little chance to avoid a serious if not fatal accident. Hundreds of Illinois citizens are killed or injured every year because they cross the street against the traffic signals.

And no matter how many times they are warned against it, there are always those who, going through the transition of driver to pedestrian, insist upon swinging open the car door and stepping into the street without taking time to observe if there is any traffic approaching. These persons either fail or refuse to recognize the fact that in such a case a driver seldom has time to turn out or stop.

SAND CAVE, one of the area's scenic spots located about a mile south of Bell Smith Springs and a half mile west of Clarida Springs and Indian Ladder near Cedar Grove church. According to the late Clarence Bonnell in his book, "The Illinois Ozarks," Sand Cave is found in a cliff that faces the valley of Bay Creek in Pope county. The Sand cave is a great dome shaped cavern, 150 feet in diameter which widens out from an entrance into the sandstone cliff. Many cliffs are deeply undercut in this vicinity but none are like this cave. Herds of cattle keep cool there in summer and warm in winter. The clay floor is pitted where the credulous have dug for treasure. The Clarida homestead is in this area and persons who visit these scenic spots are advised to inquire at the homestead or other farms for exact directions. (Wm. H. Shaffer Photo with John O. A GOOD PLACE FOR A PICNIC. The Carrier Mills Park, located at the north village limits, has been a mighty popular place for family picnics this summer. The park, sponsored by the Carrier Mills Lions club but for the general public, has a large shelter and fire place, many picnic tables and several pieces of play ground equipment. The park is lighted for evening picnics. The Lions club members have made the park one of their major projects and spent much time and money to get the well-shaded area in fine shape for picnics. WHAT PRICE HOME IMPROVEMENTS?

Pride in one's home is as typically American as ingenuity — and these days the two often go hand in hand. Millions of householders are discovering that they can perform many home improvement tasks themselves. For other folks and other jobs, the most economical course is to call in an experienced contractor. Either way, it's the American way to "find a way." When it comes to financing home improvements at low cost, the average American need but look to his bank.

146 Eligibles for Marriage At Creal Springs

Creal Springs can boast that it has within its city limits a host of widows, widowers, old maids and bachelors, according to correspondent H. L. Mottisinger.

A count reveals 146 in the four categories, or about one sixth of the 864 inhabitants. The tally stands at:

Widows 73;
Widowers 40;
Old Maids 17;
Bachelors 16.

Mottisinger says someone suggested that the 146 get together and have an all-day homecoming. Also, if they would all get married, Creal's population would exceed 1,000.

And the Mayor 'Stood Still'

Creal Springs Mayor W. H. Schafer emerged victor Friday in a round with forces of two winged enemies.

The incident happened at or near the Schafer home in Creal Springs as the mayor was pruning a large limb from a peach tree about the premises. As the limb was cut it fell and hit a three-inch iron pipe near the middle. The heavy impact brought out a swarm of bumble bees at one end of the 10-foot pipe and a throng of wasps out the other end.

The mayor was right in the middle of his winged creatures. But he stood "still as a dummy" until the enemies retreated or withdrew their forces.

Then Mayor Schafer walked out bold and unharmed—unstung, but maybe unnerved.

The only request is that picnickers practice sanitation and take precautions about fires.

Mailmen Pray President Will Sign Pay Measure

By United Press
The prayers of the nation's mailmen are with a bill now resting on President Eisenhower's desk. The letter carriers took time out Thursday to pray that the President would sign a bill calling for pay increases. The measure already has been approved by Congress.

President William C. Doherty of the 110,000-member AFL-CIO National Assn. of Letter Carriers, issued the call for the prayer sessions. Doherty led the move by attending a special noon Mass at Washington along with 200 other persons. Other services were held at the Union Chapel in Washington, at the Alexandria, Va., post office, and in Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Denver, New Orleans and Chicago.

Four Hurt in Auto Accidents Involving Nine Cars Near Belleville

BELLEVILLE, Ill. — Three separate auto accidents involving nine cars and causing injuries to four persons occurred Thursday night on Ill. 460 about four miles west of here in the same place and in the same manner.

State police said each accident was caused by one car stopping on the highway and two others hitting the first from the rear.

Injured in one smash-up was a passenger, Mrs. Edward Erhardt, Belleville. Three were injured in the second crash. They were the driver, Howard Moore, 45, Belleville, his daughter, Monica, 15, and son Reavis 6.

None was hurt seriously.

BUGS RUNNY

Anthrax Hits Oklahoma Herds

VINITA, Okla. — A 12-man team of veterinarians vaccinated cattle by the thousands today in their efforts to head off what was officially labeled "the worst outbreak of anthrax in the United States in 25 or 30 years."

Guards manned roadblocks to prevent cattle, milk and eggs from being shipped out. At Tulsa, 70 miles from the infected area, another meat inspector was added to guard against spread of the dreaded disease, which affects both livestock and human beings.

State veterinarian Dr. M. N. Reimenschneider estimated 62,500 cattle, hogs, and sheep will have to be vaccinated in Craig county and several thousand more in Ottawa county.

The disease attacks cattle, hogs and chickens and other animals. It is about 100 per cent fatal to livestock and 20 per cent fatal to human beings.

Up to Thursday night more than 1160 animals had died and the disease had been found on 44 premises. Their carcasses were burned on the spot since moving the bodies would only serve to spread the germ.

No human beings have died.

Seeks to Force House Action on Postal Rate Hikes

WASHINGTON — Rep. James G. Fulton (R-Pa.) is trying to force House action on the administration's stalled postage rate increase bill.

The bill has been in the House Rules Committee for two months. Fulton Thursday introduced a resolution calling for House action on the multi-million-dollar bill. If the Rules Committee does not act on the bill within a week, Fulton then would be free to circulate a discharge petition to force the bill out of the committee and onto the House floor.

A discharge petition requires signatures of a majority of House members to become effective.

The House Post Office Committee on May 24 approved the bill, boosting the cost of mailing a letter by a penny and hiking other postage charges to bring in some 460 million dollars a year.

Senate Action Kills Civil Rights Bill: Martin

The only relatively important disputed issue remaining concerned the subpena powers of a proposed bipartisan commission on civil rights. Administration forces have agreed to three concessions on the commission section of the bill.

A coalition of 39 Democrats and 12 Republicans supported the jury trial amendment—the Republicans breaking with Eisenhower who came out strongly against the amendment Wednesday. Opposing it were 33 Republicans and 9 Democrats.

The amendment to the voting rights section of the bill would provide for jury trials in criminal of a judge was to punish a defendant, such as a registrar of contempt cases where the purpose voters, for disobeying an injunction to register a Negro as a voter.

Judge Can Jail
But a federal judge could jail a registrar, without a jury trial, for as long as he failed to comply with the injunction.

In an effort to woo votes for the amendment — apparently successfully — its supporters Wednesday accepted a revision that would guarantee Negroes the right to serve on federal juries regardless of state laws which now in effect keep Negroes off many federal juries in the South.

In its present form the bill would (1) create a bipartisan commission on civil rights, (2) provide for a new assistant attorney general to handle civil rights cases, (3) repeal a Reconstruction Period law empowering the President to use troops to enforce Negro rights and (4) authorize the attorney general to seek injunctions to safeguard voting rights of Negroes, with jury trials for criminal violations of such injunctions.

Sees Outbreak of Asiatic Flu in U.S. This Fall, Winter

WASHINGTON — The nation's chief health officer said today there is a "very definite probability" of a widespread outbreak of Asiatic flu in this country by fall or early winter.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said at a news conference that there has been "very wide seeding" of the Oriental flu virus in this country.

Burney also reported in a statement that the first vaccine shots against Asiatic flu are expected to become available to the public in September.

The surgeon general said six manufacturers licensed to produce influenza vaccine have set a production goal of at least 60 million doses by Feb. 1.

To meet this goal, Burney said, the producers will hire additional personnel and work seven days a week.

The public health director said he expects cold weather will "trigger" a "serious" outbreak. He added the flu virus is expected to be of the "mild" type similar to the strain sweeping the Far East.

California Hit By Brush Fires

By United Press

No relief was in sight today for a four-day Southern California heat wave blamed for a rash of brush fires that burned out at least 13 homes in the Los Angeles basin.

Most of the precipitation Thursday night and today again was concentrated in the nation's mid-section. Only a few light showers were reported in the drought-stricken sections of the East.

Southern California, baked tinder dry by a 100-degree heat wave, faced the threat of more brush fires as weathermen predicted mostly clear skies over the West today.

Three brush blazes Thursday blackened hundreds of acres of land and destroyed homes and cars as the fires swept from Pomona to the Hollywood Hills.

Firemen, hampered by inadequate water pressure in hydrants, brought the flames under control by night.

In the rain-soaked midlands, Minneapolis was doused by 82 inch of rain and Alexandria, Minn., by 1.25 inches during a 6-hour period Thursday night.

Cool air relief was predicted today for most of the northern plains, the upper Mississippi Valley and parts of the central plains.

Ex-Sen. George's Condition Grave

VIENNA, Ga. — Former Sen. Walter F. George, 79, fought stubbornly for his life today in what physicians called the gravest of a succession of crises of his heart ailment.

Dr. M. L. Malloy, his family physician, said the one-time "dean" of the U. S. Senate who retired last January after serving 34 years had reached "the lowest point yet" in his illness.

Rescue Anna Man Trapped Head First in Cistern

ANNA, Ill. — Robert Brimm, 68, Anna, was trapped head first and partially unconscious for an hour in a farm cistern today when ground caved in as he was working to repair equipment atop the well.

A 3 1/2-ton cistern cover teetered just above the trapped man, but rescuers got him out.

He was in fairly good condition at a hospital.

Brimm and a companion, Lee Simms, were repairing a large cistern at the farm of Brimm's brother, Dee, two miles south of here.

Brimm tumbled into the huge underground reservoir as earth just next to the cistern gave way. Simms did not fall in.

Brimm went in head first. His hips got caught in the fall and he was pinned with his face only inches from the water. The cistern lid slid part way into the hole after the cave in but did not fall on the trapped man.

Simms called an ambulance and Union County Sheriff Roy Dillow Frank Venus, an employee of an Anna radio station, heard of the cave in and sped to the scene.

Venus went into the cistern, and reached Brimm and found him partially unconscious.

A wrecker from Anna garage was called. A rope was tied to the wrecker's hoist and dropped to Venus. He put the rope around Brimm's waist and rescuers were able to lift the man out.

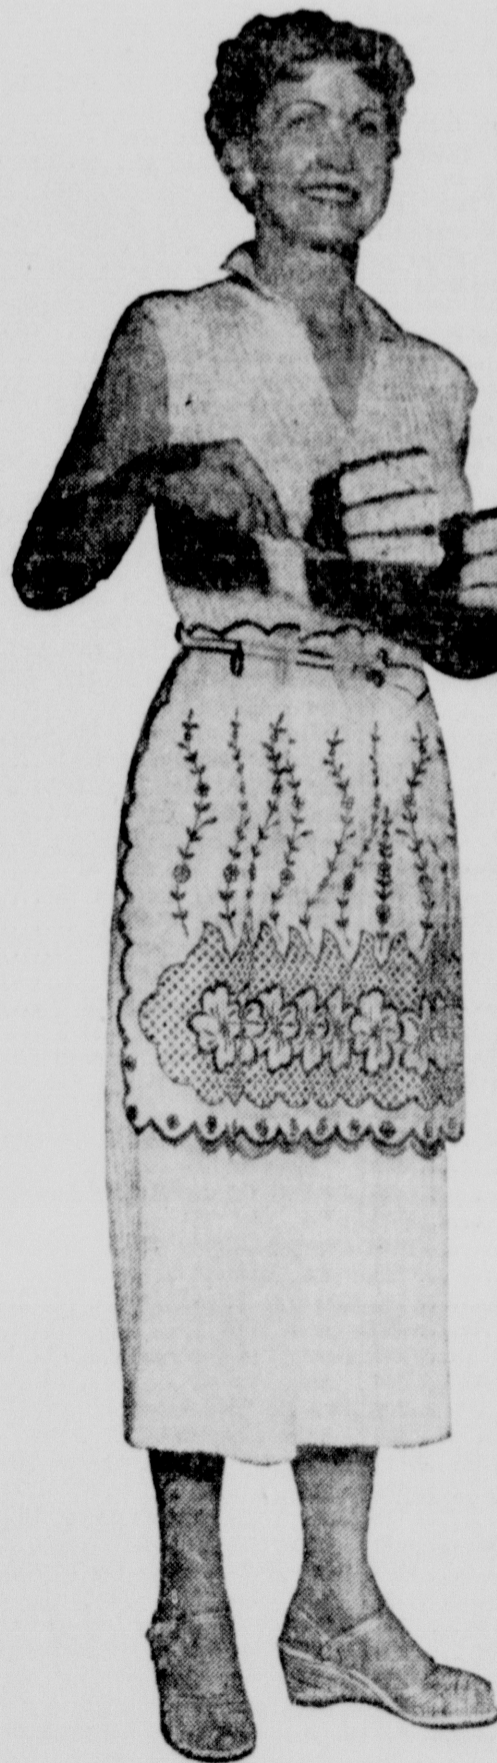

Doctors said Brimm suffered from shock, abrasions, and possible chest injuries.

Prison Farm Condition Better

SPRINGFIELD — Overcrowded conditions at the state penal farm at Vandalia have been much improved since the Legislature approved new laws to remedy the situation, Public Safety Director Joseph D. Bibb reported today.

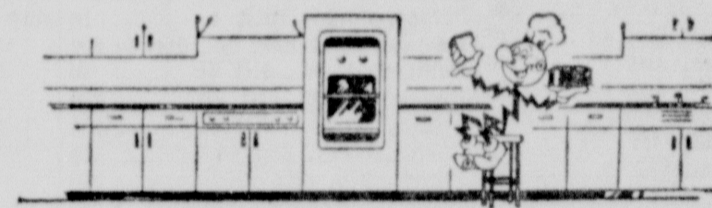

Bibb said the farm's inmate population has dropped to 1,001, from about 1,687 three months ago. The reduced population has "greatly facilitated administration" of the penal farm, Bibb said.

The new legislation permits transfer of some prisoners from the penal farm to state penitentiaries, and prohibits persons sentenced on narcotics convictions from being committed to the penal farm.

Herewith is a list of personal property assessments as made by the township assessor of Galatia township and returned to MAYNARD CANNON, County Treasurer and Supervisor of Assessments of Saline County, Illinois.

The assessed values shown are subject to revision by the Saline County Board of Review and to equalization by the State Department of Revenue. Under Provisions of Section 146 of the Illinois Revenue Act of 1939 as amended in 1945, the Department of Revenue is required to determine the percentage relationship within each county of assessed value and the estimated full, fair cash value. Upon the basis of such data, the Department is required to raise or lower the total locally assessed values so that all such property will be assessed at its full, fair cash value.

These equalized values then become the base for tax extension for 1957 taxes, payable in 1958, and indicate the full, fair cash value of the properties assessed, based on the assessed values as made by the local assessment of officials.

This publication, which is made in accordance with section 103 of the Revenue Act, serves as public notice to the taxpayers of the County of assessed values fixed upon their property by the township assessors.

ASSESSMENT LIST

Herewith is a list of personal property assessments as made by the township assessor of Cottage township and returned to MAYNARD CANNON, County Treasurer and Supervisor of Assessments of Saline County, Illinois.

The assessed values shown are subject to revision by the Saline County Board of Review and to equalization by the State Department of Revenue. Under Provisions of Section 146 of the Illinois Revenue Act of 1939 as amended in 1945, the Department of Revenue is required to determine the percentage relationship within each county of assessed value and the estimated full, fair cash value. Upon the basis of such data, the Department is required to raise or lower the total locally assessed values so that all such property will be assessed at its full, fair cash value.

These equalized values then become the base for tax extension for 1957 taxes, payable in 1958, and indicate the full, fair cash value of the properties assessed, based on the assessed values as made by the local assessment of officials.

This publication, which is made in accordance with section 103 of the Revenue Act, serves as public notice to the taxpayers of the County of assessed values fixed upon their property by the township assessors.

Cardinals Take Over Lead With 8-0 Win from Giants; Musial Has Perfect Night

By United Press
Stan Musial passed Ty Cobb today and the St. Louis Cardinals entered into the spirit of the occasion by passing Milwaukee to take over the National League lead.

All this passing was accomplished when the Cardinals defeated the Giants, 8-0, Thursday night to take over first place by two percentage points over the idle Braves.

The 36-year-old Musial supplied most of the impetus with a perfect night at the plate that included a pair of two-run homers and two singles.

Stan the Man passed Cobb with his second homer of the game in the sixth inning. The blow, his 24th circuit of the season, was the 1,140th extra base hit of his career and put him in third place ahead of the Georgia Peach in that department. Only Babe Ruth, with 1,356 extra base hits, and Lou Gehrig, with 1,190 are ahead of Musial.

Sam Jones limited the Giants to six hits in registering his ninth victory. It was the Cards' sixth straight win.

Senators Edge Chisox

In the only other National League games scheduled, Cincinnati nipped Philadelphia, 4-3, and Brooklyn mauled Chicago, 12-3. Detroit defeated Boston, 7-5, and Washington beat the White Sox, 5-4, in the only two American League games scheduled.

The Redlegs beat the Phillies with a three-run rally in the eighth inning. Until the eighth, southpaw Curt Simmons had a 3-1 lead, built with the help of homers by Stan Lonata and Rip Repulski. Johnny Klippstein was the winner in relief of Brooks Lawrence.

Gil Hodges of the Dodgers set a National League record with the 13th grand slam homer of his career as Brooklyn rapped out 18 hits and took advantage of six Cub errors. Hodges' grand slam wallop off Dick Littlefield enabled him to pass Rogers Hornsby and Ralph Kiner, who held the previous record of 12 grand slam home runs.

Sandy Koufax checked the Cubs on four hits while striking out 11. Ernie Banks' three-run homer in the fourth accounted for all Chicago's runs.

Rally Falls Short

The Tigers had to call on Frank Lary to stem a four-run, ninth-inning rally after Frank Malone belted a three-run homer off Duke Maas. Harry Byrd relieved Maas and yielded two more singles but then Lary took over and got Norm Zauchin to hit into a double play, after which he struck out Ted Lepcio for the final out.

Boston starter Mike Forneles was the loser.

The Senators spotted the White Sox an early four-run lead and then came back to win at the expense of rookie Bill Fischer. Larry Doby put the White Sox ahead with a grand slam homer in the fourth inning but Washington tied the score on Roy Sievers' 28th homer with one on in the sixth. Sievers' homer finished Jack Harshman and brought in Fischer, who gave up the deciding run on a double by Art Schult, a sacrifice and Milt Bolling's single.

Southpaw Chuck Stobbs was credited with his fifth victory, holding the White Sox to four hits in eight innings before yielding to Tru Clevenger, who gave up another hit in the ninth. The loss dropped the second-place White Sox four games behind the pace-setting Yankees.

Oliver Leads First Round of All-American

CHICAGO — Ed "Porky" Oliver, only nine times a winner in 17 years of pro golf, was a first-round front runner in Tam O'Shanter's All American Open today. But 58 challengers were in a threatening position within six strokes.

Oliver, 40, hit every green Thursday and posted 12 pars and six birdies for a 66 total on the par-72, 6,915-yard course. It was his second best round in 11 years in the event, held annually on the same links.

But the performance put him only one stroke ahead of 26-year-old Billy Casper Jr., who was a late finisher with a 67.

Roughly one-third of the field of 161 men pros was in striking distance today. Veteran Sam Snead, Shelley Mayfield, Tommy Bolt, and a former National Junior champion, Gay Brewer, were only one stroke behind Casper at 68.

Eight more players posted 69s. There were nine players with 70 and 15 at 71, for a total of 38 par-breakers for the first 18 holes. Twenty-one players equalled par.

Par suffered at the hands of the women, too, and the leading women pros, Beverly Hanson, Indio, Calif., and Fay Crocker, Uruguay, each posted a five-under 71. They were three strokes ahead of three challengers. Kathy Cornelius, Jo Ann Prentice and Jacqueline Pung, but three other women pros also bettered par with 75s.

The leading woman amateur, young Clifford Ann Creed, also knocked one stroke off par with a 75 for a four-stroke lead on the field. The leading men amateurs, Howard Everitt and Bob Pratt, bettered par by one stroke, too, with 71s for a two-stroke margin.

Denies Charges of Trying to Cut Throat Of Bride of 2 Months

MARION, Ill. — A Scotsboro man today denied charges that he tried to go after his bride of two months with a butcher knife. Earl Needham, 33, pleaded not guilty to charges of assault with a deadly weapon in Williamson County Court. He demanded a trial.

Needham was picked up after his wife, Nad'ne, 20, said he tried to cut her throat. She also complained that he beat her, hit her in the face, and tried to strangle her.

The couple was married June 5.

Garde took a deep breath and Nan smiled at him wanly. "To go back to the night of the accident," he said with renewed vigor. "Valley said this morning that she had asked Kurt to meet her down on the pier, where she had indeed been meeting him at night—her plan had been to tell him that she was returning to New York, that she was leaving Bayard. She meant to tell him that she could not go on doing what she had been doing to her sister. . . ."

Nan leaned forward. "And while she was going down the hill to tell Kurt that," she said tensely, "I was sitting up here at home—in this very room—planning to release him, to tell him that I knew he belonged to Valley." Her head tossed. "And he did, too! They belonged to each other!"

Garde had asked this question before, but not so poignantly as he put it now. "Did you love him, Nan?"

She turned so that she could look directly into his face. "I thought I did, Garde. Yes—I did love Kurt."

"We all loved the boy," said her father. "He's a fine young man."

Nan looked at Garde, and their eyes smiled a little. "Yes," she said softly, "Kurt is fine."

"We think," Garde resumed, "that, without telling that he had given the evidence to Valley, Dr. Tom probably told Kurt the whole story of what had happened, that he may have done this just before the trial, perhaps telling him to keep still, assuring him that they would not convict on circumstantial evidence alone. If it began to seem that they would, Dr. Tom promised to produce some evidence which he had, and to testify."

"But, as we all know, they did convict Kurt, and the old doctor's stroke prevented his testimony."

The explanation seemed so logical now, so obvious—it was so easy to fill in the gaps. . . .

The rector was the first to speak. "Valley did wrong. . . ."

"She's paid for it."

"Yes. Well, there are things to do now. . . ."

"They are being done, sir. As I told you, we went to the county court, and in view of this new evidence—the gun in the bag had been registered to young Laurent. Of course at the time, a check would have revealed that Ben had recently fired a gun. But no check was made—no gun was found. Today they took the fingerprints from the gun—lifted them is the term—and none were those of Kurt Lillard."

The rector's head went up, and Nan's; their eyes were concerned. "Oh, Garde. . . ."

He nodded. "This morning, Valley thought of that, too. As did Kurt, I am sure, when he kept still about what his father had told him, lest it convict Dr. Tom. But Mr. Peredoe thinks if the old man—or his guardian—would make a statement to the effect that he had stabbed Laurent in self-defense—perhaps appear before the grand jury with such a statement—there would be a quick dismissal of all charges."

Garde smiled at her, nodded and stood up, touching the knot of his dark red tie, straightening the set of his gray coat. He took a deep breath and spoke formally. "Sir," he addressed the rector, "may I ask your daughter to marry me?"

Mr. Stanfield looked up, a twinkle in his blue eyes. "Which daughter?" he asked.

Garde nodded, his cheeks deeply creased. "Well," he said, "either one would do nicely, of course. But if I have daughters, sir, I feel that I would choose Nan—for it is her I love most dearly."

The rector now was nodding. "I thought 'twould be Nan," he said softly. "I thought 'twould be." With a beneficent glance at his daughter, he departed.

Garde watched him go, then he reached for Nan's other hand and stood gazing down into her face. "I do love you, Nan," he said deeply. "I love you and I want you to be happy and to feel safe in your happiness."

Her eyes searched his face, and her lips moved. "I never had that with Kurt," she said, her voice low. "It was an excited sort of happiness, and I guess I always knew that it wouldn't last."

"It would last with me," he said gravely.

She laughed. "We think you have given us so much!" she murmured. "We've all admired you! You came into a difficult situation and not only handled it with tact, you've made your own place in the community. Do you know what I heard my father call you a few weeks ago? He was suggesting you as a possible new lay reader for the church, and he told the vestry—as secretary, I was there taking notes—he said you were a good fellow among your friends."

Garde sat pleased, and surprised. "I thought I was just being me," he said. "That was after I gave up all attempt to be Kurt Lillard."

Nan looked at him with a new sort of wonder. "Why should you have tried to be Kurt?" she asked. "Kurt's a grand person, sweet and nice to have around. The thing he's just gone through to save his father shows how really fine he is. But you, Garde—you're so much more."

"Kurt would never have started your well-baby clinic. He was popular, but his friends didn't lean on him, rely on him as they do on you."
